Preferred Citation

"The Philadelphia Quakers in the Industrial Age: 1865-1920" by Philip S. Benjamin (MC.975.07.012), Quaker & Special Collections, Haverford College, Haverford, PA.
Biographical note

Philip S. Benjamin received his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1967. In addition to his dissertation, "The Philadelphia Quakers in the Industrial Age: 1865-1920," he also published an article entitled "Gentleman Reformers in the Quaker City, 1870-1912" (1970), in the academic journal Political Science Quarterly.

Scope and Content note

This collection is composed of Phillip S. Benjamin's dissertation for Columbia University, entitled, "The Philadelphia Quakers in the Industrial Age: 1865-1920," and materials related to the manuscript, including an undated draft and Benjamin's notes for his dissertation, which are kept on notecards. Benjamin's dissertation describes and analyzes Quaker's responses to the changing social conditions in America, created by industrialization and urbanization and the increasing homogenization and secularization of American culture.
